

WILSON LEARNING CHINA WINNER OF "BEST COMPREHENSIVE TRAINING ORGANIZATION" AWARD

Hong Kong, China — November 30, 2005 — Wilson Learning Worldwide, a global provider of Human Performance Improvement solutions, has been named the winner of the fourth annual "Best Comprehensive Training Organization" award given by the Asia-Pacific Human Resources Network (APHR) and SmartFortune Magazine. This honor is yet another reflection of Wilson Learning's unwavering commitment to its customers around the world.

"Whether it be face-to-face, or across cultures and time zones, we have a world class global capability," says David Yesford, Vice President of Solution Management, Wilson Learning Worldwide. "We work closely with customers all over the world to develop and implement true human performance improvement solutions that solve real business problems."

The "Best Comprehensive Training Organization" award is the most authoritative, influential, and widely recognized award in the HR Arena. The winner of the award is evaluated based on the following criteria:

- It has certain scale and reputation in the industry;
- It helps to improve company's human performance improvement and overall competitiveness through professional, scientific and individualized training based HRD solutions;
- It is highly trusted and recognized in the industry with an extensive and high quality client list.

"We are truly grateful to be recognized by such a distinct and influential award," says Francis Lam, President of Wilson Learning China. "We take great pride in the work we do with our customers, and it's reaffirming to know that they do, too."

The 2005 SmartFortune China Human Resources Annual ceremony was held on November 29, 2005 in the Great Hall of People in Beijing, where other major national events and central government functions are typically hosted. It was estimated to be attended by 200 invited guests ranging from government officials, entrepreneurs, corporate executives, HR executives, scholars, HR experts, and media. The ceremony will be followed by a full day 2005 SmartFortune HR Summit featuring keynote speeches from HR executives, experts and award winners.
